NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY MISSING.

El Reno, Okla., April 11.—The mystery of the missing nine-year-old boy, which occurred at El Reno, forty miles below here, Sunday night last, has been solved. As suspected, he had run away with a party of Indians. It has developed that the train wrecks were four negro boys, aged from eight to fourteen years.

The child is in jail at Camden. The others, too young to be prosecuted, are released.

The boy confesses their crime, and gives as his reason for running away with the Indians. All four of the boys live at El Reno, directly in front of the switch which was thrown open. They did not return to leave home because they were afraid of the switch. The engineer, fireman and lead brakeman came near losing their lives. They were caught under the engine, and have yet not entirely recovered from their injuries.

The boy's parents are deceased.
